New Jersey.
16 USC 668dd note.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the “Wallkill River National Wildlife Refuge Act”.

(b) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) the Wallkill River and associated riverine wetland habitat dividing the townships of Hardyston, Wantage, and Vernon, New Jersey, has been identified as one of the few high-quality waterfowl concentration areas remaining in the northwestern portion of the State and a valuable wildlife habitat used by a variety of migratory birds including waterfowl, raptors, passerines, and marsh and water birds;

(2) the Wallkill River area—

(A) provides a migratory and nesting habitat for Atlantic Flyway migratory black duck populations;

(B) has been identified by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service as an important black duck habitat; and

(C) is a high priority of the North American Waterfowl Management Plan;

(3) the Wallkill River area is home to several New Jersey State-listed rare and endangered plant and animal species; and

(4) designation of the Wallkill River area as a national wildlife refuge would significantly aid to the conservation of wildlife and other natural resources.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this Act—

(1) the term “refuge” means the Wallkill River National Wildlife Refuge;

(2) the term “Secretary” means the Secretary of the Interior; and

(d) ESTABLISHMENT OF REFUGE.—(1) The Secretary is authorized to acquire approximately 7,500 acres of lands and waters, as depicted upon a map entitled “Wallkill River National Wildlife Refuge”, dated March 1990, and available for inspection in appropriate offices of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in the State of New Jersey and elsewhere.

(2) The Secretary may make such minor revisions in the boundaries designated under subsection (a) as may be appropriate to carry out this Act or to facilitate the acquisition of property within the refuge.

Federal Register,

(3) The Secretary shall establish the refuge by publication of a notice in the Federal Register and publications of local circulation when sufficient property has been acquired within the boundary of the refuge to constitute an area that can be effectively managed as a national wildlife refuge.

(e) PURPOSES.—The primary purposes for which the refuge is established are—

(1) to preserve and enhance the refuge's lands and waters in a manner that will conserve the natural diversity of fish, wildlife, plants, and their habitats for present and future generations;

(2) to conserve and enhance populations of fish, wildlife, and plants within the refuge, including populations of black ducks and other waterfowl, raptors, passerines, and marsh and water birds;

(3) to protect and enhance the water quality of aquatic habitats within the refuge;

(4) to fulfill international treaty obligations of the United States with respect to fish and wildlife and their habitats; and

(5) to provide opportunities for compatible scientific research, environmental education, and fish and wildlife-oriented recreation.

(f) ADMINISTRATION.—(1) The Secretary shall administer all lands, waters, and interests therein acquired under this Act in accordance with the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 668dd et seq.).

(2) The Secretary may utilize such other statutory authority as is available to the Secretary for the conservation and development of wildlife and natural resources, the development of recreational opportunities, and interpretive education, as the Secretary considers appropriate to carry out this Act.

(g) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Department of the Interior—

(1) such sums as are necessary for the acquisition of lands and waters designated pursuant to section 4(a); and

16 USC 668dd
note.

SEC. 108. ESTABLISHMENT OF BAYOU COCODRIE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) thousands of acres of bottomland hardwoods are being cleared each year in the Mississippi River Delta;

(2) these forested wetlands represent one of the most valuable and productive wildlife habitat types in the United States, and have extremely high recreational value for hunters, fishermen, birdwatchers, nature photographers, and others;

(3) the Bayou Cocodrie area is a bottomland hardwood swamp which borders over one hundred and fifty species of birds and many other types of wildlife, including several species threatened with extinction, such as the Louisiana population of black bears;

(4) the Bayou Cocodrie area includes some of the least disturbed bottomland hardwood forest in the Southeast and significantly contributes to the biodiversity in the region;

(5) similar habitat located elsewhere is threatened by disruptive practices and/or conversion to other uses; and

(6) this area is deserving of inclusion in the National Wildlife Refuge System.

(b) DEFINITIONS.—For the purposes of this Act—

(1) the term “refuge” means the Bayou Cocodrie National Wildlife Refuge; and

(2) the term “Secretary” means the Secretary of the Interior, acting through the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

(c) ESTABLISHMENT OF THE REFUGE.—(1) The Secretary is authorized and directed to acquire approximately eighteen thousand acres of lands and waters, as depicted upon a map entitled “Bayou Cocodrie National Wildlife Refuge”, dated February 1990 and available for inspection in appropriate offices of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

(2) The Secretary may make such minor adjustments in the boundaries designated under subsection (a) as may be appropriate to facilitate acquisition of property within the refuge or to otherwise carry out the purposes of this Act.

(3) When sufficient property within the boundaries has been acquired to constitute an area that can be effectively managed as a refuge, the Secretary shall establish the refuge by publishing a notice to that effect in the Federal Register.

Federal Register, publication.

(d) REFUGE PURPOSE.—The Bayou Cocodrie National Wildlife Refuge is established and shall be managed for the purposes of—

(1) conservation and enhancement of wetlands;

(2) general wildlife management as a unit of the National Wildlife Refuge System, including management for migratory birds; and

(3) fish and wildlife-oriented recreational activities.

(e) ADMINISTRATION.—(1) The Secretary shall administer all lands, waters, and interests therein acquired under this Act in accordance with the provisions of the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act of 1966 (16 U.S.C. 668dd–668ee).

(2) The Secretary may utilize such additional statutory authority as may be available to him for conservation and development of wildlife and natural resources, water supplies and water control structures, outdoor recreational activities, including hunting and fishing, and interpretive education as he deems appropriate to carry out this Act.

(3) In managing the refuge, the Secretary shall manage an amount of refuge woodlands as a contiguous mature forest sufficient to benefit the species of passerine birds that occupy this type of habitat. The Secretary shall give special consideration to accomplishing this objective through use of his current authority, including his authority to establish Research Natural Areas within the refuge.

(4) The Secretary shall permit access to, and the development of, reserved non-Federal mineral interests within the refuge. Any such access and development shall be carried out only in accordance with a special use permit issued by the Secretary which contains such economically reasonable terms and conditions as deemed necessary—

(A) to protect the fish and wildlife resources of, and their habitat in, the affected refuge from any significant adverse effects; and

(B) to minimize, to the maximum extent possible, any adverse effects upon such resources and their habitat. Any term or condition imposed by the Secretary under this subsection is in addition to any other requirement that is imposed under other applicable Federal or State law.

The special use permit is not intended to unreasonably restrain established or future oil and gas exploration, development and production activities or to result in the taking of property interests of the non-Federal owner.

(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act.

National forests.

SEC. 109. TRANSFER OF LANDS.
